To whom it may concern,

Castle Chemicals have been a supplier of ours for 21/2 years. We were new to the industry when we became a distributor for Castles. They provided one on one training, which gave us the knowledge required in order to help grow our business and understand their products.

The quality and large range of products Castles has available has allowed us to approach different industries including general cleaners, food industry and Aged Care. We have found their customer service to be one of the best and there is always someone available. The ongoing support through Reps, customer service and training sessions is well above any other chemical company we deal with.

We have no hesitation in recommending Castle Chemicals to anyone that may be interested in becoming a distributor for them.

Kind Regards
